

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

According to the result of the observation and the interview, the present writer concludes that the use of games in teaching vocabulary for the 1st grade of Amal Kasih elementary school is effective. All the children like to study because of the games.

As can be seen in Chapter Four, the present writer agrees that children cannot concentrate for a long period. She suggests that it will be better for the teacher to limit the time in using the game, or if the teacher wants to play the game for 1-1.5hours, the teacher should prepare 3-4 kinds of games, one game session lasting for 20 minutes (example: jumbled letters, pencil and paper game, memory game).

The present writer realizes that the children are easy to get bored. It is important for the teacher to be more various in playing the games (the children do not only sit on their chairs and answer the questions, but the teacher can ask the children to shake their heads before answering the questions), so the children will not feel bored easily. The teacher also has to find other kind of game, for example: jumbled letters, pencil and paper games. It is much better if the teacher does not use the same games all the time.

The use of games in teaching vocabulary for the 1st grade of Amal Kasih Elementary School is useful because it does not only make the atmosphere in the classroom become more relaxed to make the children learn easily, but also it is useful to attract the children's attention to finally help the children to have an effective comprehension. They do not only play the games but they learn something even though they do not realize it.

The present writer finds out that a good interaction between the teacher and the children, and also between the children and their friends happen. Doing the interaction with the teacher, the children try to use their new vocabularies and use both English and Indonesian languages. The present writer suggests that it is much better if the children interact in English or at least English should have bigger portion than Indonesian.
