ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First and foremost, I would like to thank God for His grace and blessings for giving me the ability to complete this thesis.

I wish to express my gratitude to both of my supervisors: Indriani Kuswanto, S.S., M. Pd., who has been abundantly helpful and given me invaluable assistance, and Drs. Edward A. Lukman, M. Hum., who has helped me so much in correcting the mistakes I have made in writing this thesis. Without their patience, knowledge, and assistance, this thesis would not have been accomplished.

Besides my supervisors, I would like to thank my parents, my brother, and my twin for their endless support and prayers. My gratitude also goes to my fiancé, Wilsen Wijaya, who has always been there during the process of writing this thesis.

I would like to thank the principal of the school for providing me with an opportunity to do my internship and collect the data for this thesis while she was teaching. I would also like to express my appreciation to my fellow teachers at the school for supporting me: Ms. Rima, Ms. Mery, Ms. Tina, Ms. Mathilda, Ms. Eti, Ms. Anas, Ms. Yetti, and Ms. Cecil.

Special thanks go to my group members – Bea, Yola, Joane – for always supporting me. I am also very grateful to my best friend, Debora, for her prayers and support. Finally, I would like to thank all my friends, lecturers, and the people who have contributed to the writing and completion of this thesis, although their names may not all be mentioned respectively. The completion of this thesis would not have been possible without their support, prayers, participation, and assistance.
