ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to Jesus for all of His blessings so that I could successfully finish this thesis. Furthermore, I would like to thank my parents and sister for their constant support and for being my solace. I could not have done this without them.

Next, I would like to express my sincerest appreciation to my first supervisor Joanna Deborah, S.S., M.Hum. for guiding me and giving me such detailed and incredibly helpful feedbacks during the process of my thesis writing. I would also like to express my deepest appreciation to my second supervisor Dra. M. Melly Kosasih, M.Si. for helping me refine my writing with her invaluable advices and feedbacks. Their work ethics and generosity are greatly appreciated.

Furthermore, I would like to thank Dr. Trisnowati Tanto, M.Hum. for her counsel and support as my academic advisor during my study in the English Department. I would also like to thank all the lecturers and staffs of the English Department for the knowledge, feedbacks, and support.

I would like to extend my gratitude to my wonderful, inspiring, and talented best friends: Maria Henez, Nabila Ferdyansyah, Sr. Henni Sidabungke, Vidya Vimuti, and Feliana Valentine for being my light in the darkness. Last, but definitely not the least, I would like to thank all of my friends in the English Department for being amazingly supportive throughout my academic journey.
