

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

In the first chapter I discuss the problem during my internship which is I could not handle a four-year-old boy with behaviour problem in Kakakku Class. While in the second chapter I discuss the causes and the effects of my problem. The causes are, first I did not have any experience in handling a four-year-old- boy. Second, I was lack of assertiveness with the boy. Third, the boy did not obey my instructions. The effects are, I felt confused, the other children felt disturbed, and the boy could not finish his work on time. Then in Chapter Three, I discuss the potential solution to solve my problem

I choose three potential solutions to solve my problem. Because they support one another. First is I will take time to connect with the boy so that I can get to know him better. Then I will teach with confidence to make the boy follow my instructions and as a result, I can handle him more easily. Finally, I will give the boy a reward if he follows my instruction. The best solution of the problem is I will combine the three solutions to solve my problem because they support one another. By using all these solutions I may be able to handle the boy confidently. Finally, in order to handle the boy more effectively, I will take time to connect with him to know him better.

Besides all the potential solutions, I suggest the teachers who faces the same problem that the first potential solution, which is taking time to connect with the boy be applied not only during the lesson, but also when there is a play time. In this way, the solution can be more effective.
