A Few Good Men tells about a murder of a soldier named Santiago. The murder happens in Guantanamo Bay. There are two soldiers who become the accused of the murder; they are Corporal Harold Dawson and private Loudon Downey. In order to investigate the case Lieutenant Cdr. Galloway is sent by the Division to seek the truth of why these two soldiers murdered Santiago. To help her work, she is helped by another two soldiers, Lieutenant Daniel Kaffee as a defense lawyer and Lieutenant Sam Weinberg. Later on, it is disclosed that actually Dawson and Downey do not murder Santiago on purpose. It is told in the film that Santiago has asked to be transferred to another post because of his weak physical condition does not support his hard daily activities in Guantanamo. Owing to the fact that Santiago is considered to be too weak to become a border guardian in Guantanamo Bay, Colonel Jessep and Lieutenant Kendrick order Dawson and Downey to give a lesson to Santiago. They order Dawson and Downey to do Code Red. Unfortunately, when Dawson and Downey execute the Code Red, Santiago dies. As a matter of fact, Code Red has been forbidden legally to be put into action. Still, the practice of this code goes on in Guantanamo. At the end of the story, Kaffee is succeeded in revealing the truth and bringing Colonel Jessep to the stand. Colonel Jessep finally acknowledges that he himself orders the Code Red for Santiago and he gets the punishment.

While the second film, The Peacemaker, tells about a looting of ten nuclear missiles done by General Aleksander Kodoroff, a member of Soviet Union Army. It is told that Kodoroff steals ten of SS-18 to get some money from the terrorists. In order to solve this national issue, the government appoints dr. Julia Kelly to be a three-week leader. Kelly is given full authority to lead and take decisions in this mission. She also has obligation to report everything to the president. Meanwhile, Lieutenant Colonel Tom Devoe is also assigned to be one of Kelly's colleagues in the mission. It is told in the film that Devoe together with his team succeeds in taking over the missiles and arresting the criminals. Apparently, there is one missile missing and it has been bought by Vlado Mirick. Mirick functions as the right hand of his brother, Dusan Gavrich. Actually, Gavrich wants to take an avenge to the government of United States which he considers to be the responsible party for his family death. So, he plans for exploding the United Nations building in Manhattan by using SS-18, the missing missile. At the end of the film, both of Kelly and Devoe are succeeded in saving United States from the bad intention of Gavrich.

1.	Lieutenant, how long have you been in the navy? How long have you been out of law school? I see. No. It's just that when I petitioned Division to have counsel assigned, I was hoping I'd be taken seriously. Have you ever been in a court room?	Status vs. Support Independence vs. Intimacy	Kaffee disrespects Galloway when they meet for the first time in Galloway's office.

2.	You haven't talked to a witness, you haven't looked at a piece of paper. You're gonna have to go deeper than just— My job is to make sure you do your job. I'm special counsel for Internal Affairs, so my jurisdiction's pretty much in your face.	Status vs. Support Independence vs. Intimacy	Galloway is upset towards Kaffee's remark on the case. Besides, she wants to show her superiority.
3.	Read the letters. You're not under any obligation, but I'd appreciate a report when you get back from Cuba.	Orders vs. Proposals Status vs. Support Independence vs. Intimacy	Galloway orders Kaffee straightly.
4.	You're dismissed.	Status vs. Support Orders vs. Proposals Independence vs. Intimacy Conflict vs. Compromise	Galloway wants to show her superiority.
5.	Tell your friend not to get cute down there. The marines in Guantanamo are fanatical.	Orders vs. Proposals Information vs. Feelings Status vs. Support	Galloway orders Weinberg to tell Kaffee not to have trouble in Gitmo.
6.	I was wondering why two guys have been in a jail cell since this morning while their lawyer is outside hitting a ball.	Conflict vs. Compromise Status vs. Support	Galloway teases Kaffee for his having leisure time.
7.	Lieutenant, would you feel very insulted if I recommended to your supervisor that he assign different counsel? I don't think you're fit to handle this defense.	Conflict vs. Compromise Status vs. Support	Galloway feels Kaffee is not the right lawyer to handle this case, so she wants to replace him with someone else who is more competent than him.

8.	I do know you. Daniel Allistair Kaffee, born June 8th, 1964 at Boston Mercy Hospital. Your father's Lionel Kaffee, former Navy Judge Advocate and Attorney General, of the United States, died 1985. You went to Harvard Law on a Navy scholarship, probably because that's what your father wanted you to do, and now you're just treading water for the three years you've gotta serve in the JAG Corps, just kinda layin' low til you can get out and get a real job. And if that's the situation, that's fine ' I won't tell anyone. But my feeling is that if this case is handled in the same fast-food, slick-ass' Persian Bazaar manner with which you seem to handle everything else, something's gonna get missed. And I wouldn't be doing my job if I allowed Dawson and Downey to spend any more time in prison than absolutely necessary, because their attorney had pre-determined the path of least resistance.	Information vs. Feelings Conflict vs. Compromise Status vs. Support	Galloway feels she knows Kaffee enough by having all information about him. she feels that Kaffee does not have vision in his life.
9.	I'm gonna speak to your supervisor.	Status vs. Support Conflict vs. Compromise Independence vs. Intimacy	Galloway intends to replace Kaffee with other lawyer so she will tell Kaffee's supervisor.
10	Do you know what a Code Red is? What a pity.	Information vs. Feelings Status vs. Support Conflict vs. Compromise	Galloway wants to show that she is more knowledgeable about Code Red.

11.	Jesus Christ, Kaffee, you are in the navy for crying out loud.	Conflict vs. Compromise Status vs. Support	Galloway laughs at Kaffee's being incompetent.
12.	You planning on doing any investigating or are you just gonna take the guided tour?	Conflict vs. Compromise Status vs. Support	Galloway sees Kaffee is not being serious in the investigation.
13.	Wait a minute, I've got some questions. Yes I do. Colonel, on the morning that Santiago died, did you meet with Doctor Stone between three and five? I was wondering if you've ever heard the term Code Red. Colonel, this past February, you received a cautionary memo from the Naval Investigative Service, warning that the practice of enlisted men disciplining their own wasn't to be condoned by officers. My point is that I think code reds still go on down here. Do Code Reds still happen on this base, colonel? Yeah, he really does. Colonel? Yes he does. Colonel, the practice of code Reds is still condoned by officers on this base, isn't it? I need an answer to my question, sir.	Conflict vs. Compromise Independence vs. Intimacy	Galloway insists asking questions to Jessep even though it seems dangerous for her.
14.	How long have you known about the order?	Information vs. Feelings Independence vs. Intimacy Conflict vs. Compromise	Galloway straightly asks question to Ross.
15.	No deal, we're going to a jury.	Conflict vs. Compromise Independence vs. Intimacy	Galloway disagrees Ross' offer.
16.	Yeah. One thing, though. When you ask the judge for new counsel, Danny, be sure and ask nicely.	Information vs. Feelings Conflict vs. Compromise	Galloway informs Kaffee to be polite with the judge.

NO	Galloway's Utterance	Type of Violation	Context
17.	I want you to let 'em be judged! I want you to stand up and make an argument!	Orders vs. Proposals Conflict vs. Compromise	Galloway wants Kaffee to move on to the court.
18.	Why are you so afraid to be a lawyer? Were daddy's expectations really that high? You know nothing about the law. You're a used car salesman, Daniel. You're an ambulance chaser with a rank. You're nothing. Live with that.	Status vs. Support Conflict vs. Compromise Independence vs. Intimacy	Galloway feels disappointed with Kaffee for having no courage to go to the court.
19.	Where I've earned two distinguished service medals and two letters of commendation.	Status vs. Support Information vs. Feelings	Galloway informs her achievements proudly to Kaffee.
20.	Because I want you to think I'm good lawyer.	Status vs. Support Information vs. Feelings Orders vs. Proposals	Galloway wants to gain Kaffee's respect.
21.	You chicken-shit. You're gonna use what happened today as an excuse to give up. Bullshit! You could've gotten it by picking up the phone and calling any one of a dozen departments at the Pentagon. You didn't want the transfer order. You wanted to see Jessep's reaction when you asked for the transfer order. You had an instinct. And it was confirmed by Markinson. Now damn it, let's put Jessep on the stand and end this thing!	Conflict vs. Compromise Orders vs. Proposals	Galloway is mad with Kaffee because Kaffee does not have enough courage to stand for the truth.
