FLOWCHART

CAUSE   EFFECT

- I was too close with the students as their friend.
- There were several students who did not pass the grade for one year, so they knew me when I was in high school.
- They always shared their life stories with me, and told me if they had problems

→ Difficulty in managing a class of students of which almost all of them are also friends of mine. ←

- Several of the students did not respect me.
- Some of the students ignored me.
- Many of the students asked me to manipulate their mark.
- The students could not learn well because I could not give them clear instructions for doing individual or group work for my subject.

Potential negative effects:
- There is a possibility for me to get nervous because I have never been too disciplined or strict in my life.
- The students may hate me and I can lose my friends.

→ Potential Solution 1: I have to be strict and disciplined with the students. ←

Potential positive effects:
- The students will know what is expected from them when I teach them with the rules that I have applied in the beginning of the class.
- It would be easy for me to manage the class.

Potential negative effects:
- The students still may not understand my position.
- The students think I want to make a distance between them and me.

→ Potential Solution 2: I have to talk first to the students outside the class that I need them to understand my position. ←

Potential positive effects:
- The students will know how to behave in my class after I talk to them that I am going to teach them and I will be in charge of them.
- It will be easy for me to manage the class and focus on teaching.

Potential negative effects:
- Many of the students may not respect me as their teacher.
- I cannot concentrate on teaching because they ask me to talk with them all the time while teaching.

→ Potential Solution 3: I have to be relaxed in teaching while being consistent with ←

Potential positive effects:
- The teaching situation will be more relaxed.
- The students will get excited about the lesson.

Chosen Solution:
I have to talk first to the students outside the class that I need them to understand my position and I have to be more relaxed in teaching while being consistent with rules

Universitas Kristen Maranatha