

CHAPTER FOUR

CONCLUSION

In the previous chapter, I have already stated the problem with their causes and effects, and also three solutions to solve the investor's difficulties in comprehending English business news. The first cause is there are many investors who do not have an English language background. The effect is investors will miss the update news so that they will take a wrong decision to invest. The second cause is the difficulties in comprehending business idioms and business vocabularies that occur in the news. The effect is the misunderstanding in comprehending the news. The first solution is help providing the update business news to investors by giving them local newspapers that they can understand. The second solution is give a translation table of either business vocabularies or business idioms by recommend them some suitable films which are giving business information so that they can learn and understand business vocabularies and business idioms.

In this chapter, I will conclude the whole problem with one best potential solution. As the best potential solution, with its potential positive and potential negative effect, I choose the second potential solution. The decision to choose the second solution as the best possible solution is because in order to comprehend business news, the knowledge of business idioms and business vocabularies are considerably needed. This is what Serenson states: to comprehend business news, we have to understand business idioms and vocabularies. Without it, the message and the content of the whole news will not be delivered and conveyed well (2008).

In the second solution, investors will be given a translation table of either business vocabularies or business idioms from some suitable films which are giving business information so that they can learn and understand business vocabularies and business idioms. The source for making a translation table are finance.yahoo.com and www.rongchang.com/business. The justification for this solution is the importance of comprehending business English news. The comprehension of business English news can make the investors make appropriate decisions. It is because the newest news comes from the Internet and it is in English. On the contrast, if the investors get out-of-date news, they will make wrong decisions. Based on my experience, the more investors comprehend the business news, the more vocabularies and idioms they get.

Last but not least, this term-paper can be concluded that in comprehending the English business news, Investors can decide their own investment without depend on translator or other people. Investors are also suggested to take English course for they can be supervised in comprehending English business or they should read the translation table which has been given occasionally so that the investors can improve their knowledge of business vocabularies or business idioms.
