

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

Before presenting the best solution for the problem, I would like to present the summary of the previous chapters. The problem that I discuss is in teaching English vocabulary to 11 children consists of: 8 boys and 3 girls aged 3-4 years old in pre-kindergarten class at BPK Penabur. There are 3 causes of the problem, first cause is I lacked of teaching experiences. The second cause is I did not use an effective method in teaching vocabulary to the children. The third cause is I felt difficult to find appropriate materials for those children. There are also 2 effects of the problem. First, The class became noisy. Second, The children lost their interest. Besides the causes and effect of the problem, there are three potential solutions to solve my problem. The potential solutions to the problem are I will prepare myself before teaching the lesson, I will find appropriate material for children, I will using visual aids and games to teach vocabulary.

My chosen solution is combining all of the potential solutions. The reason why I choose all of the potential solutions is because they support each other.

First I will prepare myself before teaching the lesson, so that I can give a better instruction to the students. Then, I will find appropriate material for children.

The last one is I will using visual aids and games to teach vocabulary, I will use games to review the lesson before they do the exercise. Each of the potential solutions will support the other potential solutions, as a result, teaching English vocabulary will be easier, more effective and more fun for both the teacher and the students.
