Cause 1: The trainees did not have a background of hotel or tourism education
Cause 2: The hotel did not give any training to the trainees

Problem: The GRO trainees in the front office department in G.H.Universal Hotel lack knowledge of how to handle the guests well

Effect 1: Misunderstanding between GRO trainees and the guests
Effect 2: The trainees would feel bored and frustrated

Potential Positive Effects:
1. The trainees get knowledge of both facilities and accommodation in the hotel from the supervisor
2. Having facilities and accommodation understanding about the hotel will prepare the trainees to interact with guests

Potential Solution I: Front office Supervisor should give an individual guidance and instruction every day

Potential Negative Effects:
1. Trainees will depend on the front office supervisor
2. Individual guidance decreases staff’s time, especially supervisor’s time, to do their responsibilities

Potential Positive Effects:
1. The trainees get knowledge of both facilities and accommodation in the hotel from the supervisor
2. Having facilities and accommodation understanding about the hotel will prepare the trainees to interact with guests

Potential Solution II: Front office department manager plans a training schedule for the trainees, which must be done at least once a week

Potential Negative Effects:
1. It wastes the trainers’ time
2. The training will be useless if it is poorly organized

Potential Positive Effects:
1. Training will make the trainees know their performance standards
2. The trainees will be competent in doing their responsibility

Potential Solution III: The hotel should not accept trainees who do not have any knowledge of hotels

Potential Negative Effects:
1. Some people might blame the hotel if it does not want to give an opportunity to people who have no knowledge of hotels
2. The hotel has to spend more money to hire professional employees

Potential Positive Effects:
1. It will not waste the time and money of the trainer to hold training
2. Front office Manager and Supervisor can concentrate more on evaluating the staff

Chosen Solution: Front office department manager plans a training schedule for the trainees, which must be done at least once a week
